"Wireless and You @ FSU"

The university's Wi-Fi network is called "FSU Wireless." To connect, use the username "student" followed by a backslash and then your personal username.

Your personal username consists of the first initial of your first name directly followed by your entire last name. If another student on campus shares your last name, a number or set of numbers may be added to the end of your username.

For example, for a student named Jane Smith, the username to sign into the Wi-Fi would be: "student\jsmith."

MY FRAMINGHAM/SHAREPOINT

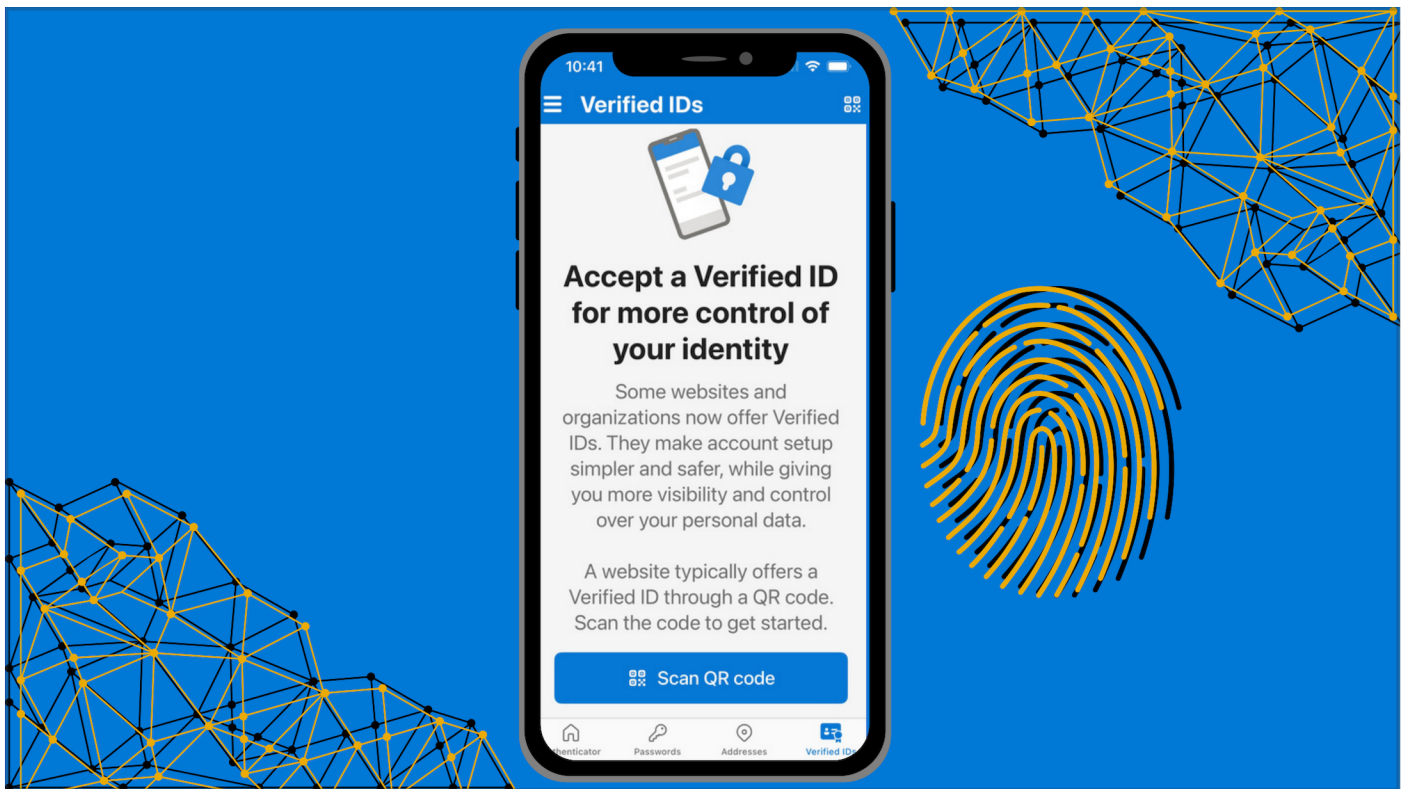

"My Framingham/SharePoint"

SharePoint provides access to the digital tools you will need as an FSU student. These tools include, but are not limited to, Canvas, Handshake, DegreeWorks, and Starfish. You will learn more about these tools in this presentation.

Microsoft Multifactor Authentication (MFA)

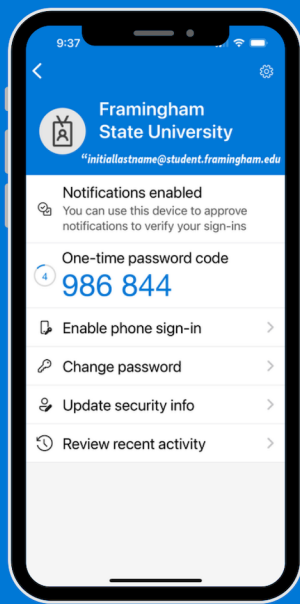

Multifactor Authentication, also referred to as MFA, is here to protect your login information. If you're able, now would be a great time to scan these two QR codes to download the authenticator app to your smartphone. The code on the left is compatible with Android devices, and the one on the right is for Apple products.

Why download MFA? There are many reasons to do so. The dedicated team at the IT center on campus is committed to keeping our information safe using this protocol, thanks to two-factor authentication.

WHY DOWNLOAD MICROSOFT MULTIFACTOR AUTHENTICATION?

2 FACTOR IDENTIFICATION

Provides a prompt for a second verification method after you sign in with your username and password.

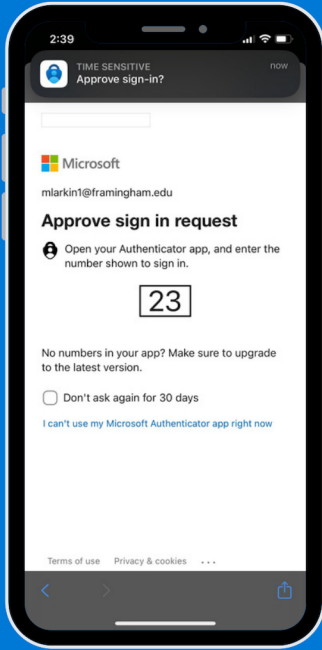

Provides sign-in without requiring a password, using your username and your mobile device with your fingerprint, face, or PIN.

You may be asking yourself, "What is two-factor authentication?"

It is a security process in which users provide two different authentication factors to verify their identity.

HOW IS SIGNING IN WITH YOUR PHONE MORE SECURE?

Your data is used only to protect your key locally. It's NEVER sent to, or stored in, the cloud.

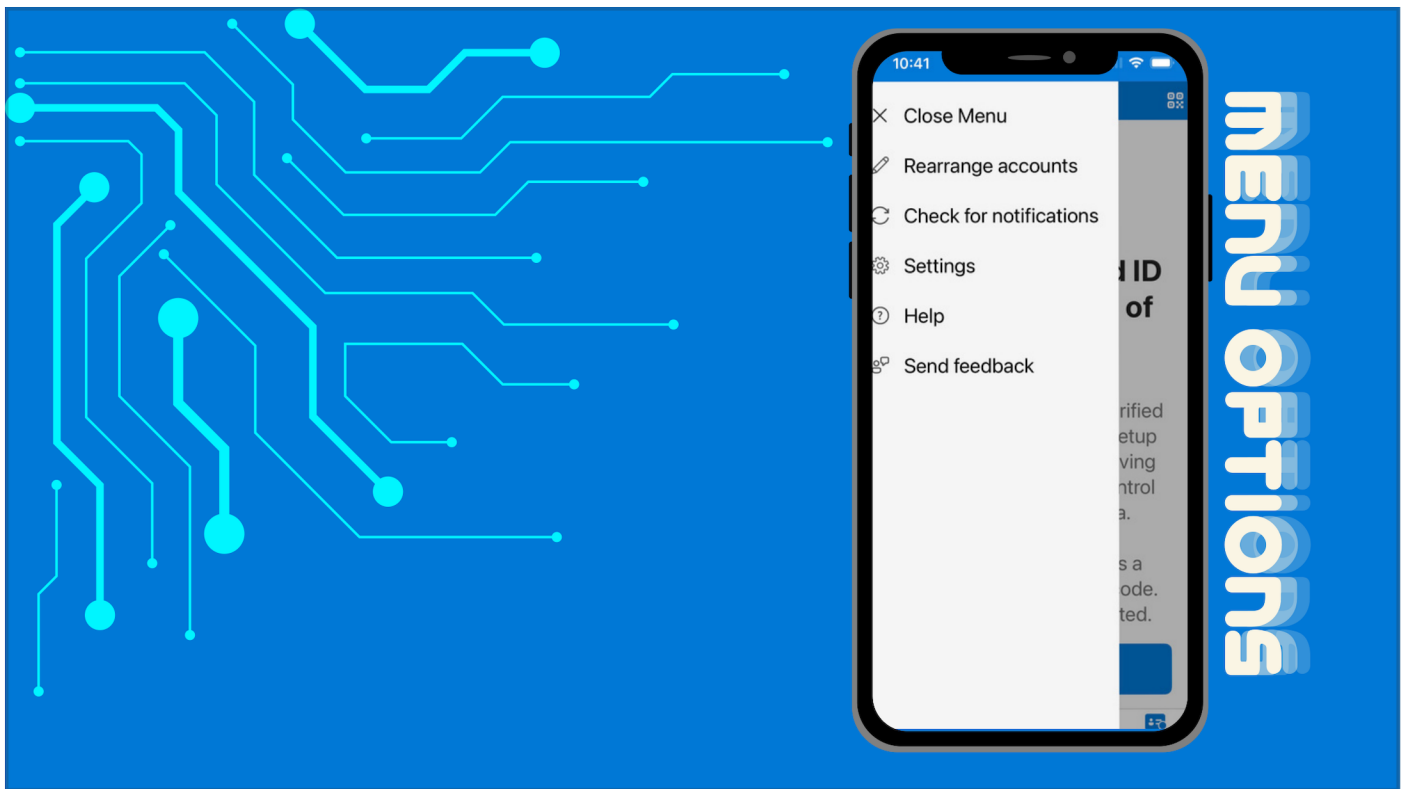

After you set up the Microsoft Authenticator app, it creates a key on your phone to unlock your account that's protected by your phone's PIN or biometric lock. This key is then used to prove your identity while signing in.

This is an example of what your screen will look like when setting up the authenticator app for the first time on your smartphone.

Some important information regarding MFA: The data you provide (such as your phone number and email address) is used only to protect your key locally and is never stored in the cloud. Once you set up the authenticator, it automatically creates a key on your phone to unlock your account. This key is protected by your phone's PIN and/or biometric lock, such as a thumbprint or face scan.

Additionally, you will see multiple menu options where you can adjust your app settings, rearrange your accounts if you have more than one Microsoft account, and check notifications.

That you won't have from having to remember multiple passwords when you use MFA!

All of this to say, MFA is your personal superhero. With the great power—protecting your scholastic information and emails—comes great responsibility and headaches that you won't have to worry about!

What is Canvas?

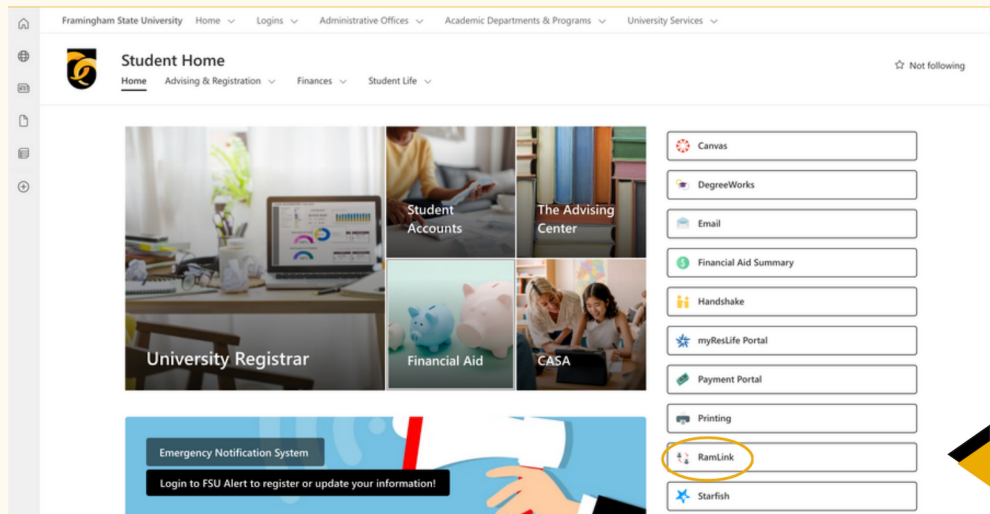

Canvas is a hub for your classes. It's where you can keep track of assignment due dates, submit work, receive grades and feedback from professors, and connect with classmates regarding group projects and other course-related subjects.

Canvas works across multiple platforms, including computers, smartphones, and tablets. You can set up email reminders in Canvas so that when new assignments are posted, you'll receive an email notification to your student email.

As you navigate Canvas throughout the semesters, remember that there are no mistakes, only "happy accidents" (as Bob Ross would say) from which we can learn!
